Bunny Williams's
EPIC GARDEN 'BEDSIT'

the Almighty ACCESSORY

An unsung hero of well-decorated rooms, lively finishing touches for adding character of all kinds

THE VOGUE NATURALIST

Call her the wild child of decorating, a hobbyist hunter of anything unearthed, untamed, and alive. Natural world objects turn her salon into a shimmering portal to the great outdoors with silvered seashells glinting from bookcases, meadow flowers sprouting in lacquered frames, and faux-bois urns and ceramic insects immortalizing a quiet walk in the woods.

THE DEVOUT MODERNIST

Nothing trumps purity of form and material for this soulful aesthete. Tactile craft discoveries make for a strong supporting cast to her clean-lined furnishings and introspective art—think bulbous handblown glass vases, a hammered iron candelabra, and brass-plated portraiture—not to mention worthy conversation pieces that beg closer inspection. Perhaps over a vodka martini served on a fossil stone platter.
